LOCAL BRIEFS.

THE PALACE was closed yesterday.

THE NORTHERN PACIFIC earned $886,000 in March.

GEORGE CHAINNEY lectures to-night at the Opera House.

HORN SILVER went up to 2.50 yesterday, from 2.30 the day before.

MCCORMICK & Co., yesterday, received one car Hanger ore, value, $2,450.

WILLIAM MCKANE for being drunk was fined $5 by Judge Speirs yesterday.

THE WITNESSES in attendance upon the Grand Jury, yesterday, were numerous.

THERE were three earthquake shocks in Deer Lodge last week.—Inter-Mountain.

WELLS, FARGO & Co., yesterday, received one bar (Christy) bullion, value, $7,000.

THERE will be a meeting of printers this afternoon, at 2 o'clock, at Kireman's Hall.

It is expected that the case against August M. Cannon, will be begun in the Third District Court to-morrow.

ON the 27th, the sixty-fifth anniversary of Odd Fellowship in America will be celebrated by the order in this city.

EIGHT car loads of sheep, probably 400 in all, went over the D. & R. G. to Denver, yesterday; they were picked up around Salt Lake.

INSPECTION, to-day, at Fort Douglas, will be by battalion, preceded by dress parade and a review, at 9 o'clock a. m., weather permitting.

THE FIVE Easter music at the Catholic church will be repeated to-day, at the services commencing at 11 o'clock. The same quartette will sing.

THE TEMPLE of Honor Hall, over the Deseret National Bank, will be open again to-day at 2.30 p. m., for Public Temperance services, to which all are invited.

EDWARD MYERS was arrested by the police, yesterday morning, charged with assault and battery on Charles Koemp. He will be heard on Monday morning.

It is understood that the letter delivery extends to all the numbered houses in the city? If so, a gentleman in the Twenty-first Ward has a crow to pick with the postoffice officials.

THE BUSINESS done by merchants, yesterday, must have been a genuine boom. The crowds of marketing people and teams in the streets were a reminder of the good times of the past.

DEPUTIES CALLED at the residence of Mr. Henry Dinwoodey, on Friday evening, and asked for that gentleman. Being informed that he could be found in New York, they retired in good order.

THE GRAND Jury, after presenting four indictments yesterday afternoon, under United States laws, adjourned for one month; the evening papers had it that the adjournment was till Monday.

A DOUBLE team of spanking greys was being driven about the streets, yesterday, drawing an excursion wagon filled with excursionists who were taking in the beauties of the city as displayed in spring time.

THE HOUSE set for the funeral of the late Mrs. Clara J. Young has been changed to 12 o'clock to-day in order not to conflict with the Tabernacle services. The services will take place in the Fifteenth Ward Meeting House.

YESTERDAY'S OGDEN Herald says: Z. O. M. L. is shipping large quantities of grain from Cache Valley. Up to the 15th they had shipped twenty U. P. carloads, and they then received orders for forty-five more.

EDWARD BRAIN was on hand yesterday afternoon at the Marshall's office, inquiring if he was wanted, but it not being then known whether he had been indicted, he was told that he would be notified when wanted, probably on Monday.

THE BUILDING recently occupied by the London Bank of Utah is undergoing a thorough interior transformation. The work of altering now going on there will result in converting the place into one of the best appointed and neatest beer halls in the country.

THE CARD of Andrew J. Taysum, plasterer, appears in The Herald. Mr. Taysum is a pioneer artist in his line, and his long experience in this city is sufficient guarantee that jobs entrusted to him, in plain and ornamental plastering, will be executed to the satisfaction of his patrons. Read his card.

THERE was a large attendance at the bi-weekly meeting of the Female Relief Society, yesterday afternoon, at the Fourteenth Ward Assembly Rooms. Addresses were made by Mesdames Horne, Kimball, Fathus, Smith and others, the subjects of which were interesting and were listened to with marked attention.

TO-MORROW the always enterprising Salt Lake City Brewery company will be out with their Buck beer. Their facilities for making this celebrated beverage are unsurpassed. The present supply was made eight months ago, and their placing it in their several depots of the city, to-morrow, in advance of the usual time, the 1st of May, exhibits an enterprise which their patrons will undoubtedly recognize. In this connection we call attention to a special advertisement in this issue for a lot of ways to assist in the brewing department of the brewery, the increased business calling for increased help.

YOU ARE Interested Yourself.

A Girl.

There is joy galore in the household of Mr. Don C. Tufts, and it is dined plentifully with pride on the part of the head of the house. The cause or occasion for this happy condition of things was the arrival at noon, on Saturday, of a bouncing baby girl, with the avoirdupois and lungs of a yearling. The madame is comfortable, and is able to receive congratulations.

A Big Ranch Sale.

The Withington ranch, a valuable piece of property in White Pine County, Nevada, comprising several thousand acres of land, was sold on the 14th inst. by W. S. McCormick to E. H. Parsons, of this city, and Mr. Nichols, of Colorado. The price is not stated, but is certainly to have been a heavy one.

Mr. McCormick acquired the ranch through a foreclosure of a mortgage, taken to secure a loan made some time ago to its owner, J. R. Withington. Messrs. Parsons & Nichols obtained a six months' bond on the property, which expired on the 15th inst. On the 14th they appeared with the price agreed on the deeds were made out, and the title vested in the new owners.

AN INCOGNITO ARTIST.

A Charming Picture by an Unknown Painter.

During the past week, no small attention has been attracted among artists and art lovers to a charming oil painting on exhibition in H. Pembroke's window. The subject is a little waterfall tumbling down a rocky glen, the sky obscured by foliage that hangs in the entire scene. It is painted in a low tone, but is rich in color, and has evidently been handled by an accomplished draughtsman and colorist. The easy precision with which the rocky formations are portrayed, especially the cliff in the upper part of the picture, is the chief element of beauty in the work, though its success as a whole is attained by the perfect harmony of tone preserved in all its parts. It has been pronounced a gem by all who have seen it, and some considerable inquiry has been made as to its author. All that can be learned, however, is that it was not painted by any one in this city. Mr. Pembroke says it was placed with him to sell, with no more information than this, and further he knows not. For such a successful work the price is reasonable, and we trust it will be kept in our city by some one of our many admirers of art.

A SAD ERRAND.

In Search of a Brother Supposed to be Dead in Idaho.

Mr. E. P. Matthews, a prominent lawyer of Dayton, Ohio, and a cousin of the late Hon. William H. Hooper, arrived in this city last evening, on his way to Idaho, whither he will proceed next week, in search of the remains of his brother. The sad errand was taken by Mr. Matthews, on receipt of some word sent from Idaho, relative to the discovery of a skeleton and some clothing which are supposed to be the remains of George Matthews, a young gentleman who in the winter of 1883, left Salt Lake for the north country and was supposed to have been caught in one of the terrible snow storms of that winter. Nothing definite was ever learned of the young gentleman's fate save the fact that he had been seen to leave Kansas one evening alone and on foot in the face of a terrible storm, and it was thought he lost his way and was overcome by the terrible cold. His relatives east, as well as the family of Captain Hooper, have been almost distracted by the lamentable occurrence and on a previous occasion his brother who is now here came out in hopes of obtaining the body or at least some conclusive intelligence. Mr. George Matthews had spent sometime with the family of Captain Hooper, before taking the fatal journey northward. He was a gentleman of excellent education and much ambition and came west with the intention of establishing himself in business.

THAT DEFALCATION.

The Exaggerated Statement Published Yesterday Evening.

In connection with a paragraph published in an evening paper, charging a book-keeper of Remington, Johnson & Co., with a heavy defalcation, a HERALD reporter interviewed Mr. Remington last evening. The gentleman appeared greatly chagrined at the publication, and denounced it as materially untrue, and particularly the statement that "it is not known what the peculations aggregate, but it is alleged they reach into the thousands." Mr. Remington deemed the printing of the item a breach of good faith on the part of the journal in question, as steps were being taken to straighten out the crookedness alleged. But since the matter has been made public he would have it correctly stated. The individual accused of being short in his accounts is a former book-keeper of the firm of Remington, Johnson & Co., named G. D. Root, but is not now in their employ. The reason given for desiring not to give the affair publicity was the fact that the defaulter had respectable family connections in this city, and also because he was taking steps to place himself right with the firm. As for the assertion that "it is alleged the peculations will reach into the thousands," it never was so alleged by those most particularly interested. The shortness will not reach to one thousand even, and as there is a prospect of Mr. Root settling satisfactorily with the firm, there will be no prosecution of the offender.

Sheep Oil.

During the past two seasons we have had a large demand for our Sheep Oils, of which we keep two grades. It is used for the base for making ointments and is far superior to any which sheep men usually compound. It not only keeps the skin moist and free but is extremely healing in itself even without the drug that are usually added. Many stockmen complain that they are unable to get good sheep oil at country stores and are delayed by having to send a long way to us direct.

A TRUNK SQUABBLE.

Mrs. Shear Arrested on a Charge of Stealing her Lodger's Trunk.

Mrs. Shear, proprietress of the Palace Hotel, was arrested yesterday afternoon by Deputy Marshal Sprague, on a complaint sworn out before Commissioner McKay by W. N. Hodges, U. P. City Passenger Agent, charging her with stealing his trunk from his room at the Palace Hotel. Mr. Hodges' story is that he owed Mrs. Shear for board; that he had been garnished by one Shell, a creditor of Mrs. Shear's, and that he told the lady he could pay her nothing, but must hand the amount to Shell. She thereupon took his trunk from his room and kept it, whereupon he swore out the complaint as above noted. Mrs. Shear's claim on the other hand, as narrated to a HERALD reporter by herself and her attorneys, Hoge & Burmaster, is that under the law she has a hotel-keeper's lien on the trunk of her lodger until what he owes her—a bill of $52—is satisfied. Mrs. Shear took Hodges' trunk as security for this bill, and offered to return it to him whenever the bill was paid; Hodges got out a writ of replevin for the trunk, and Constable Crow served it; Hoge & Burmaster immediately gave a counter bond and "replevined it back again." They hold the trunk for their client, and there the matter now stands. The whole thing will come up before the Commissioner to-morrow.

GIVE HIMSELF AWAY.

And Lays Himself Liable to be Otherwise Prosecuted.

George Lawrence was up before Judge Speirs yesterday morning, on two charges, one for disturbing the peace of William Dummer, and the other for disturbing the peace of John Hocking. He was found guilty on both charges and fined for the first-named $22.70, and for the second $7.50, both of which fines he paid. In connection with this case, during the progress of the examination, the defendant, who was, of course, under oath, made an admission with reference to the girl Nattress and the man Hocking, which should furnish the district attorney with the cue for a prosecution under the provision of the Excise laws act referring to unlawful cohabitation. The fuss arose, it appears from the testimony at the trial, out of jealousy on both sides of the relationship of both the males with the female in the case. The knowledge that the defendant and the plaintiff have both maintained certain relations with the Nattress girl has been public property for some time, but the admission made in court yesterday morning was not expected, at least, in the language and form used by Lawrence. The case may yet be further heard about in other quarters.

Residing in Glass Houses.

The News poses on her venerable ear last evening and charges THE HERALD with adding insult to injury in stating that a certain dispatch from Parowan, claimed to be a "special to the News," was nothing of the kind. We reiterate the statement, it was nothing of the kind. By an arrangement with the telegraph office these country dispatches are sent to the Salt Lake press by the operators at various points, with the distinct understanding that if they arrive after the evening papers have gone to press the morning papers shall pay for them and the evening copy. On the other hand, if they arrive in time for the evening papers, they pay for them and the morning copy. The fact that both the News and another evening paper printed the particular dispatch as special to each, shows that it was special to neither. These are matters in which the public have not much interest, but as long as the News has seen fit to throw stones when she resides in a palatial glass mansion, we think proper to take note of the missiles. In this same connection it might be proper to inform the readers of the Deseret News that for a number of long years past they have been dependent on THE HERALD for all knowledge of what occurred in the City Council of this city. A News reporter in that chamber would be as great a rarity as a shower of ten penny nails.

In his "Life of Ralph Waldo Emerson" Dr. Holmes says the poet and philosopher always had pie for breakfast.

George Chainey at the Opera House Sunday Night.

The committee of the eloquent eastern orator, George Chainey, announce that he will speak at the Walker Opera House on Sunday evening, April 19th. Colonel Robert G. Ingersoll says of this gentleman: "His lectures stir me like a trumpet. They are filled with the loftiest spirit, eloquent, logical and poetical." To enable all to attend, the committee have arranged that a voluntary collection only, shall be taken at the doors. Subject: "The Ideal Man and Woman." Commence at 8 o'clock sharp. All are welcome.

THE MARSDEN-AIRD CASE.

A Suit with Several Pretty Questions of Law Before Judge Pyper.

Several weeks ago, James Marsden brought an action before the Justice of the Fifth Precinct, against Mrs. Elizabeth Aird, for the restitution of certain real estate in the Eighteenth Ward, which was alleged to be wrongfully and unlawfully detained by Mrs. Aird, after due notice to quit, etc. The case dragged slowly along, and finally John Aird was made a party defendant in the case.

Mrs. Aird answered for herself, and claimed to have an interest in the property, denied tenancy, and alleged that the whole thing was a concoction of Marsden and her husband John Aird, to deprive her of the premises and her home.

The question of tenancy was tried by the court, and it appeared that Aird and his wife had lived on the premises in question for considerable time, and in 1883 Aird, who had title to the premises, sold out to James Marsden, and retained the same from him again for 30 months, under which contract the premises were occupied by Aird up to some time ago. Aird and his wife had quarreled and transferred about the time of the transfer of property, and she did not know that the same had been sold, and that Aird was only a tenant, until just before the commencement of the suit.

In rendering a decision a day or so ago the Court found that a tenancy existed between John Aird and plaintiff, and rendered judgment against him, dismissing the case against Mrs. Aird. A writ was issued against Aird on Wednesday, and plaintiff claims that the officer should put Mrs. Aird out of the same, as she is a part of John Aird, etc., and that there can be no separation of husband and wife under the law.
